The view along the drive down the MacArthur Causeway from downtown Miami to Miami Beach is getting a new, 21st-century look.

Last year, Royal Caribbean unveiled its new $195-million Terminal A. The sleek angular glass building, designed by Broadway Malyan, evokes a high-tech ship that glows with color by night.

View of Terminal F at PortMiami on Oct. 24. The terminal will undergo a $195 million makeover, in part to accommodate Carnival Corporation's new liquefied natural gas-powered ships set to arrive by 2022.
